

BC HIGH

[As an alum and generous supporter], you may hold fond memories of camaraderie, challenging academics, and personal growth within a faith formation at BC High that has likely left an indelible mark on your life.

Today, as we reflect on those formative years and look to the future, I am reminded of the crucial role that alumni like you play in ensuring that BC High students continue to benefit from a Jesuit education blending academic rigor with a deep sense of moral and social awareness. Students like, Gustavo B., a remarkable young man whose journey you may even recognize as your own.

For him and countless others, BC High isn't merely a school—it's a sanctuary, a place of belonging and growth. His story, like many of his peers, is one of embracing challenges, seizing opportunities, and striving for excellence in every aspect of his life.

In Gustavo's own words, BC High is where "innovation and creativity thrive." It's a place where students are encouraged to explore their passions and talents, whether on the baseball field, within cultural associations like the Hispanic Latino Association, or through the enriching experiences offered by the Hyde Center for Global Education.

But what really sets BC High apart, is not just the multitude of opportunities it offers, but the profound impact it may have had on you, and now on the lives of young men like Gustavo. Through service trips and immersion experiences, Gustavo discovers the true meaning of compassion and solidarity. Here, he learns to see the world through God's eyes, recognizing the inherent dignity of every individual, and experiencing the joy of service to others.

As we embark on the next phase of our history, I am reminded of Gustavo's words: "The investments donors are making in our school are connected to the investments I'm making in myself, my education, and my future."

<Salutation>, [Will you renew your support with] a gift of <ASK2>, investing in the future of BC High and all the young men who shape it?
